Colors are all around us, but also within us. We not only have our favorite colours, our auras have their own color. Our chakras have their different colors. Tuning in to our colors rebalances our selves with nature and each other. Finding our right color has implications for the way we dress, how we decorate our homes, even the food we eat. Use the color inset and the exercises in this book to find the right colors for you in different situations. Become color intelligent, and live a glorious life of kaleidoscopic color rather than a monochrome existence.

In the 1970s Tappe identified a new group of children being born as Indigo, pages. Each page of this 8.5x11 coloring book is printed on one side only. We recommend using a heavy sheet of paper in between pages when coloring to prevent the colors from bleeding through to the next page. For coloring in this book, we recommend using colored pencils, markers, crayons, pastels, and/or gel pens.

Jess Anderson is a painter. She is a collector, a connoisseur of colors. Early in her life, she dreamed of painting fine art, but circumstances blocked that path. Now, she paints houses. When Jess is hired to paint Mrs. Au's house, she experiences an incredible week ; listening to the old Chinese lady's stories of her life in China and reexamining the choices that have molded her own life. By the time the house is painted, Jess finds

The Indigo Child is a boy or girl who displays a new and unusual set of psychological attributes, revealing a pattern of behavior generally undocumented before. Throughout this work, Carroll and Tober bring together some very fine minds (doctors, educators, psychologists, and more) who shed light on the Indigo Child phenomenon. These children come in "knowing" who they are—so they must
